Rector Creek Dam Spillway, Yountville, Napa County

There is a non-emergency spillway maintenance issue with Rector Creek Dam, near Yountville, Napa County. A small patch in a construction joint of the spillway has “popped off” measuring 2 feet wide, by 4 inches long, by 1 or 2 inches deep.

- The gouge is 1-2 inches deep on a 12-inch concrete slab and located 1/3 of the way down the spillway.
- The spillway has a separate channel than the main dam.
- DSOD stated that the spillway gouge is normal after a winter and considered a routine maintenance item.
- DSOD is monitoring the situation and does not consider it a life safety issue at this time. Cal OES Dam Safety Planning is in positive contact with the dam owner and will continue to monitor the dam and coordinate with DSOD as appropriate.
- Cal OES Dam Safety Planning continues to maintain contact with the dam owner to pre-identify any concerns and/or assistance needed.
- Dam owner has committed to sharing the inundation map and portions of their draft EAP by COB Tuesday \(or Wednesday at latest\) with stakeholders. Cal OES Dam Safety Planning is providing technical assistance.
- No further briefing reports will be provided.

SITUATION SUMMARY

February Winter Storms

- Atmospheric river conditions affected much of California, including recent burn scars. Rises in creeks and streams from heavy rains and snowmelt will result in continued urban and small stream flooding across much of the state. Travel conditions across the Sierra Mountains are unfavorable.
- Cal OES Duty Officers are monitoring weather and maintaining close contact with their Operational Areas (OAs).

Critical Infrastructure

- Per CUEA DO as of 02/19/19 at 0916 hours:
  - Pacific Gas and Electric has 9,100 outages.

Prepositioning of Resources and Personnel by Flood Operation Center (FOC), Department of Water Resources (DWR)

- Northern California - precipitation in the Central Valley is tapering off, with scattered showers possible through Sunday.
- Southern California - scattered showers and snow are forecast to continue through Sunday, with dry weather early next week.
- The next weather and hydrology briefing is scheduled for 1000 hours on Thursday, 02/21/19.
- Levee patrols throughout the region are ongoing.

Storm Impacts

Coastal Region

Storm Related Damage, Marin County

- The County of Marin is among several agencies assessing storm-related damage that took place 02/14/19 in the baylands of eastern Novato, directly south of Hwy. 37. Engineers and other personnel from the agencies are analyzing embankments and levees with a goal of mitigating storm water effects on the nearby properties and roadways including Hwy. 37.
  - The flood water needs to recede out to San Pablo Bay before the full extent of the damage and any potential fix can be accurately determined. It may take an extended amount of time to fully address the issue. During the assessment period, all efforts will be made to assist Caltrans in keeping Hwy. 37 operational.
  - The county has no unmet needs at this time.

Potential Levee Breach at Montezuma Slough, Solano County

- The California Department of Fish and Wildlife (CDFW) reported an eminent levee breach at the Montezuma Slough within five days and ordered a hand crew from Delta Conservation Camp No. 8 which is jointly operated by CAL FIRE and CDCR. If the levee were to breach, it would have environmental impacts on the largest brackish water estuary on the west coast, flood CDFW Headquarters presently on site, and over 150 private duck clubs. CDFW is procuring its own materials (sand and plastic) to mitigate the breach. Mission Request #57662.

Humboldt Bay, Humboldt County

- In Humboldt, the storm impact caused silt and sand to create a more shallow passage in the entrance to Humboldt Bay. The main impact of this shallowing of the passage is on crab fisherman and the Chevron gas barge that is critical for providing fuel to Northern California.

FIRE ACTIVITY

WEATHER KEY POINTS

02/19/19 - 02/25/19

Tuesday

- Valley and foothill frost and freezing temperatures will cause impacts to agriculture interests away from the coast across the state, and even near some southern CA coastal locations

Wednesday-Friday

- Some travel impacts from yet another colder storm system moving into northern CA Wed with snow levels dropping below 1000 feet elevations, but even the higher elevations in the Sierra will just see around a half a foot of additional snow.
- Low snow levels, possibly as low as 1500 ft, will also create some travel concerns Wednesday night through Thursday in the southern Sierra, Kern County Mountains, and other southern CA mountain passes
- Slight threat for thunderstorms across southern CA Thursday
- Gusty winds possible along the central Coast and across southern CA, but only minimal impacts expected
- Valley and foothill frost and freezing temperatures again possible Thursday night into early Friday

Saturday-Sunday

- Additional light precipitation in northern CA late Saturday into Sunday with snow levels again down to around 2000 ft.
